

Project Update

RECOMPOSE | DECEMBER 2021

ABOUT RECOMPOSE

Recompose is a public benefit corporation powered by people who believe in changing the current death care paradigm. It uses the principles of nature to sustainably return bodies to the land, sequestering carbon and improving the health of our natural surroundings. Recompose has selected Seattle as the next location for its new Headquarters, and the construction of their new home is currently underway. To learn more about Recompose, visit its website.

CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY

Recompose is teaming up with Sellen and Olson Kundig Architects to build its new home in Seattle. Crews officially mobilized on Nov. 22, 2021, and the project is currently on track for completion in Spring 2022. The team completed early landscaping efforts in the front of the building in November.

The following construction activities will be taking place throughout December:

- Ongoing interior demolition
- Structural steel upgrades
- Underground sawcutting and utilities installation
